

TEACHERS' MEETING ON MAUI.

Many Pedagogues Assemble at Wailuku.

JOHN HENRY PESTALOZZI DISCUSSED.

A Large Number of Teachers Talk of the Great Teacher—A Good Programme Given During the Evening—Those Present.

MAUI, Jan. 18.—Wailuku has been favored by another meeting of the live teachers of Maui. Saturday, the 13th inst., was the time set for the meeting, in which the worthy old pedagogue John Henry Pestalozzi was to be discussed. At 2 p.m. Prof. J. L. Dumas, principal of the Waihee School, called the meeting to order, when it was found that every teacher of the Wailuku district, save three, whose names are not given, was present. Besides our own force, we had Prof. Henry S. Townsend, principal of Lahaina-luna Seminary, and two of his able corps, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott, and also Mr. Alfred Hayselden, to represent the Lahaina School. From Makawao we had Messrs. J. A. H. Crook and S. W. Crook, but we missed the presence of Prof. W. C. Crook, who always carries with him something interesting to leave for the young teachers to ruminate upon until they meet again. Mrs. Dumas continued her drawing lesson from December 2d, and the work that she did showed plainly the difference between machine work and live teaching. Every mark she made on the blackboard, every word she spoke, seemed to rivet itself on the mind and feelings of each one present.

Next came Miss Angela Crook's language lesson. She had some children brought in promiscuously and with these she showed practically how she taught beginners to speak correctly, and how she would have them write the sentences. It was a happy selection the committee made, when they assigned Miss Crook to this work, for she did it as easily and quietly as though she were alone in her own class. Neither this lesson nor the one in drawing were very long, but they were both richly laden with teaching power. Any teacher who cannot profit by such work as this, would do well to turn his attention to some other profession. This Circle represents Oswego, Oberlin, San Jose, San Francisco normal schools, and several other institutions of learning of high order. It is lovely to meet with these teachers and hear them discuss their methods.

At 2:45 Pestalozzi was brought under fire and it seemed that almost everyone had made a specialty of the study of the good old soul. Professor Dumas' face would indicate how happy it made him to preside over a body of such enthusiastic teachers. They had probably read everything that could be found to speak either of the man himself or of his works, or of the influence that his methods have exerted on the different nations of the civilized world.

Discussion closed at 4 p.m., and the chairman appointed Misses Angela Crook, Lizzie M. Cunningham and Zelia K. Rogers a committee to arrange a programme for the next meeting of the circle, which is to be held on Saturday, February 10th. So we have only four weeks to finish our do with "Harry Queer of Follyville."

TWO SCIENTISTS LOST.

Mr. Stein's Voyage to Ellesmere Land Will Become a Rescue Expedition.

Public interest in the expedition to Ellesmere Land proposed by Mr. Robert Stein of the United States Geological Survey is likely to become intensified by the fact that melancholy tidings received from the Arctic now render that expedition a duty to humanity. Captain McKay, of the Dundee whaler Aurora, reports that the two young Swedish naturalists, Bjorling and Kaistennius, who had hired a small schooner, the Ripple, at St. John's, Newfoundland, and set out for a collecting trip along the West Greenland coast, accompanied by a crew of three men, were wrecked on the Carey Islands in August, 1892, the schooner running aground as they were leaving. After an unsuccessful attempt to reach the Greenland shore, they returned to the Carey Islands and the last note, written by Bjorling, dated October 12, 1892, states that they were preparing to start immediately for Ellesmere Land, in the hope of obtaining succor from the Eskimos and afterward making their way thence to a whaler or to the Danish settlements. Their provisions would only last till January 1, 1893. No further news having been received from them, almost the only hope of their safety lies in the supposition that they are on Ellesmere Land, sharing the food and shelter of the Eskimos or hunting down the musk oxen and reindeer, which are known to abound in the western part of the island. An expedition for their relief would necessarily have to shape its course for the nearest accessible point of Ellesmere Land, which it could not hope to reach before the end of May, 1894. Precisely at that time Mr. Stein expects to be landed at that point from a whaling steamer, with provisions for two years and material for a house, so that no other relief could come more opportunely. Mr. Stein intends to make it his first duty to institute a thorough search for the missing scientists.—American Ex.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH MEETS

As it was, some ten left, after I had stuck up that notice before mentioned. However, this matter requires more consideration than I can write in a hasty letter, and it must be remembered, that the settlement cannot get along entirely without some kokuas and clean persons.

I intend to go to Honolulu in a couple of weeks, three perhaps from now, and shall be able to give further details of this kokua business, if the Board wishes it.

In regard to allowing the lepers to raise awa for use, it was decided to take no special action at the present meeting, but to instruct the acting superintendent to enforce the law that prohibits the sale of awa.

Several complaints and requests from lepers and kokuas at Kalaupapa were read.

Dr. Williams, of Hilo, wrote asking for more vaccine virus, and stating another mild case of scarlatina had broken out.

Dr. Thompson, of North Hilo, stated that several cases of tonsillitis in his district had been traced directly to Hilo.

Dr. Capron, of Kau, reported that he had reassumed the duties of his district.

Dr. W. L. Moore, of Koloa, wrote for a new supply of medicines, and asking that if a vacancy occurred in any permanent position, he be appointed thereto. His letter was placed on file.

It was moved and carried that all the patients of Dr. Goto be examined by the physician at the Settlement. The Board then adjourned.

DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY, Jan. 19.

D. Ferreira and P. Miranda, charged with assault and battery, were remanded until January 26th.

Three drunks were each fined $6 and costs and one forfeited his bail.

G. V. Andersen, charged with assault and battery on Chas. Sass, the cabin boy of the bark Margaret, was fined $5 and costs.

Two Chinese were each fined $7 and costs for playing dominoes for money.

Nine miserable-looking Celestials appeared before the Court charged with vagrancy during three months past. They had been in the habit of playing che fa and loafing around the che fa bank during the day. They were remanded until January 20th.

Four other cases, on various charges, were remanded, and five cases were nol. pros'd.

The most extensive and celebrated salt mine in the world is at Wieliczka, nine miles from Cracow, in Galicia, a province of Austria-Hungary. It has been worked continuously for 600 years. The mass of salt is calculated to be 500 miles long, 20 miles broad and 1200 feet thick.

The collecting of postage stamps has brought into existence a professional stamp repaire, who, for a small fee, dextrously repairs mutilated stamps. His specialty is restoring the margin to envelope stamps that have been cut to shape, and have thus lost much of their philatelic value.
